The Record

animated short film by Jonathan Laskar (8'38)

An antique music instrument dealer receives a magical vinyl record from a traveller: "It reads your soul and plays your lost memories". Obsessed by this endless record, the antique dealer listens to it again and again, and the memories reemerge.

«The Record» is more than a vinyl record, it is recording in its global sense: our desire to preserve everything, our need to archive everything.

Through the parable of an antique dealer who remembers, thanks to music, a repressed trauma, I would like to ask the question of the relationship between the duty to remember and the quest for a cultural identity.

Un voyageur offre à un antiquaire un vinyle magique. «Il lit dans votre esprit et joue ce que vous avez en mémoire». Obsédé par ce disque sans fin, l'antiquaire l'écoute encore et encore, et les souvenirs refont surface.

«The Record» est plus qu'un disque vinyle, c'est l'enregistrement dans son sens global : notre volonté de tout conserver, notre besoin de tout archiver.

A travers la parabole d'un antiquaire qui se souvient, grâce à la musique, d'un traumatisme refoulé, j'aimerais poser la question du rapport entre le devoir de mémoire et la quête d'une identité culturelle.
